Elizabeth Lucas Showcases New & Popular Products at AmericasMart Atlanta 2011

Mixed-Media Print Company Returning to Atlanta with New Chair Cushions

The Elizabeth Lucas Company will return for the third year to Atlanta's AmericasMart 2011. This year, they're coming with a very popular item and a brand-new one.

New Chair Cushions, and Women's Totes are Back

Attendees will be the first to see new Elizabeth Lucas chair cushions (such as "Seguy 2" to the right). Many of these cushions display "antique scientific" illustrations from the 1800s: birds, botanicals, sea life and other animals. The rest use a "new vintage" style introduced by the company's Multi-Layer Print artwork.

The chair cushions are intended as furniture accents. Like its other pillows, these are 90/10 down, and handmade in the USA.

Also back are the women's tote bags. Though they were only introduced in April, this new line is already a popular seller. "Ladies love these! Because of the inks & fabrics we use, the totes don't bleed or tear. They stand out in a crowd," says Scott Lucas, co-founder.

Green-Friendly Artwork

Elizabeth Lucas takes care to stay green-conscious for all of its art, and furniture pieces. For example, one of the most popular ELC pieces is "Riding the Vineyard." It's a 36" x 54" wall print made with recycled cardboard.

And before you think recycled cardboard can't make for good design – the piece was featured in Country Living's "House of the Year 2010" project. "Riding the Vineyard" hangs on the walls of a custom-built green home at New York's World Financial Plaza.

The Elizabeth Lucas Company will be in High Design Building 2, West Wing Floor 1, Booth 223 at the AmericasMart 2011.
