Elizabeth Lucas Returns to Vegas with ELC Market and Plexiglass Artwork

ELC Market Line Includes Single-Layer Prints for Retail Sale, New Plexiglass Art Pieces

From January 26 to 30, the Elizabeth Lucas Company will attend the Las Vegas Market in Nevada, as they have for the past few years. At such shows they will introduce a new type of artwork, or furniture piece displaying their unique “new vintage” art style.

This year, they will introduce Vegas to a new product, and a completely new product line – ELC Market.

ELC Market products are single-layer art prints, priced under $70 each. They’re intended for retail sales.

Each art print is wrapped in burlap trim and hand-finished with nail heads for vintage appeal (like “Coffman”, right).

The new line isn’t the only option designers & wholesalers will find at the Elizabeth Lucas booth. They’ll also have a selection of other media, from hand-covered ottomans to art prints on galvanized steel and plexiglass (like “Flower”, left).

“The new plexiglass medium is incredible,” said Scott Lucas, co-owner. “Like our steel pieces, it makes for a stark contrast to the artwork itself. We add a black frame for a contemporary look. You get a piece of beautiful artwork that feels like it’s three-dimensional!”

Custom Artwork Available Year-Round

The ELC booth is located in Building C, Booth 0139. Examples of the new ELC Market prints & plexiglass pieces will be on display. Also available are standard prints, furniture, slip-covers & more. Visitors can request custom orders on-site.
